

SUPREME WOMAN

Real name: Caroline Leigh

Occupation: Assitant

Affiliation Group: None

Height: (as Supreme Woman) 6' 8"

Weight: (as Supreme Woman) 1365 Pounds

Bio:

Caroline Leigh was always an unpopular girl, small in stature, too thin, her parents died in an accident, so she was raised by her uncles. She had gotten a job as an assistant at a news media company. She led a quiet and normal life, until one day that would change completely.

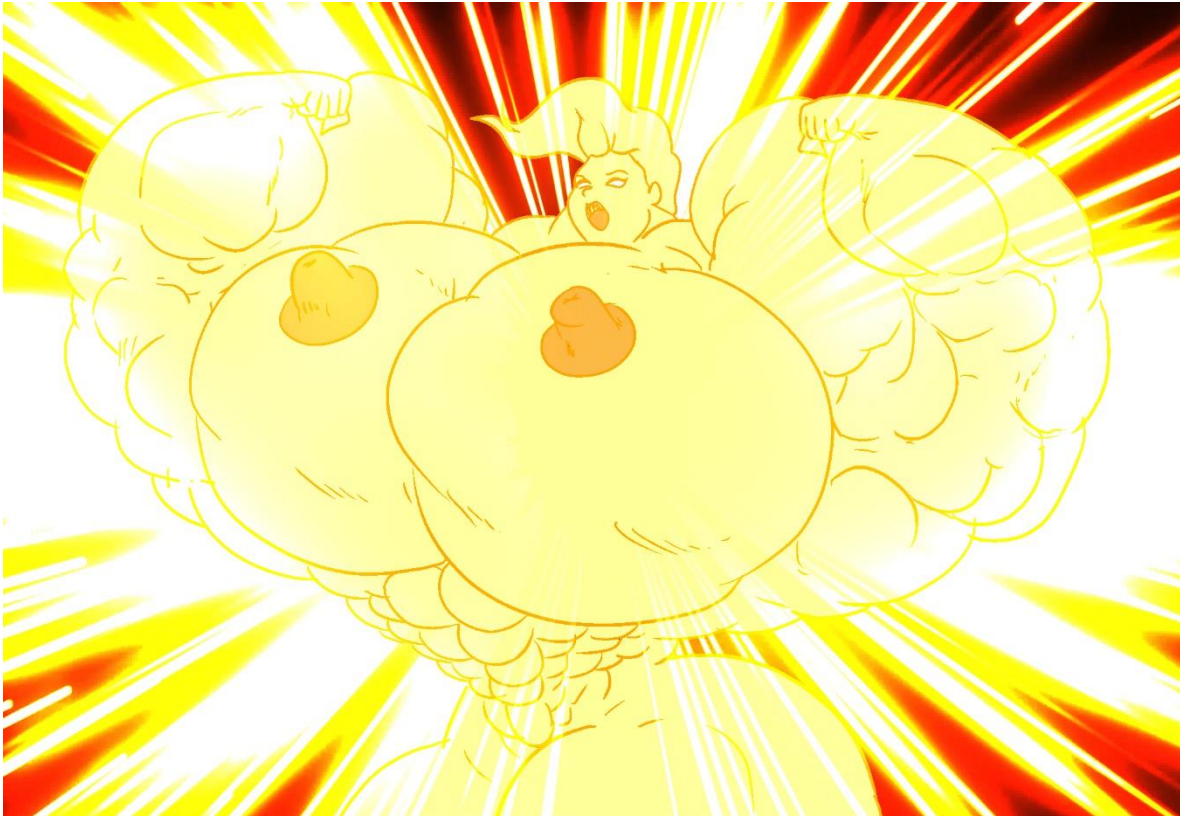

Returning by the interstate highway, one night she was returning from her uncle's house, she was driving quietly along the road until from the sky, a very strong light illuminated her. this took her by surprise forcing her to stop, the light intensified and she lost consciousness of it.

Not knowing how it happened, Caroline wakes up in her apartment. It was the morning of the next day and she had to go to work, without understanding what had happened, she decided to go as usual, without telling anyone, not even her best friends, Nikki and Gary. The day went on normally and although she felt different in some way, nothing out of the ordinary happened. That day she returned to her house, after bathing, she sat down to watch television for a moment, while she had a cup of coffee, and without wanting to, she fell into a deep sleep.

In her dream she saw herself returning from her uncle's house and she saw the incident of the light again and at the moment when that light covered everything, a voice that did not seem to be from this world was heard, telling her "you just have to summon the supreme power", and Caroline woke up with a start.

It wasn't late, in fact it was still early and on television she sees the news that a cargo plane had engine problems and was about to crash over the city, without knowing how, Caroline could hear the plane in trouble without knowing its location, recalling her dream, although at first she thought it was stupid, she almost instinctively said the words "Supreme Power".

Suddenly her body was filled with a feeling of unimaginable power, Caroline had never felt anything like that. From being an almost scrawny girl of 5' 1", she went on to transform into a 6' 8" mountain of enormous muscles. Shocked at what had happened, Caroline is snapped out of her thoughts by hearing the plane in trouble again.

She instinctively flew out of her apartment at super speed and in just a few seconds she found the plane crashing in the air. She flew towards it and, placing herself below the plane, effortlessly began to level it until stopped losing height. So she took it to a landing strip and left the giant plane there, before anyone could see her.

Caroline returned to her apartment and saying the words "Supreme Power" again, she returned to her normal self although now it was different. The normal appearance of her had changed, she was now a 5' 10" girl with an exuberant and toned appearance.

Caroline knew that what happened to her coming back from her uncle's house, the dream and her new powers were related, what she didn't understand was the reason why everything was connected and the strangest thing was how she could instinctively control those powers. She decided to become Supreme Woman once again and went to the place where she had seen the light, she searched everywhere for a clue that would help her understand what happened, but she found nothing.

Her new and enormous powers made her compromise, since Caroline was always someone with a very good heart. If she had these powers, she would use them to protect people, help those in need, while she would try to unravel the mystery of why she had received these gifts.

Powers and abilities:

As Supreme Woman, Caroline possesses vast super strength, she can effortlessly lift up to 900 times the total weight of our planet. Also her super speed is enormous, she can reach the point of moving at the speed of light, in addition to that, she has super vision, super hearing, flight and from her eyes she can launch energy beams that could disintegrate planets whole if she wishes.

Her power is so enormous that even as in her normal form, Caroline has some degree of super strength, enough to lift a truck.